(Past 21 runnings)

The Sha Tin 2000m start is a tricky one, with stalls placed well up the home straight, near the winning post in front of the grandstand, and horses have only a short run to a sweeping, hemispherical turn that takes them to the back straight. Horses drawn wide must either press forward to lead or race handy, or in the alternative take hold and go right back. A poor decision from the rider of a widely-drawn runner usually results in midfield, wide transit --- and that's fatal. The last two Group One races over 2000m at Sha Tin have been won by the leader, Time Warp.
